ARTHUR P. BRADY

A resident of Bristol for sixty years and Justice of the Peace for the last six Arthur P. Brady, of Wood street and Jefferson avenue is the Republican nominee to succeed himself at the election next Tuesday.

Mr. Brady has a long record of public service for this community. For many years he was active as a member of the Central Relief Committee of Bristol. He also served as a member of the State Relief Board for Bucks and Montgomery county. When this system of relief was reorganized in the Earle Administration, he became chairman of the Bucks County Relief Board and served there for three years.

For a number of years he was a leader of Boys' Week activities. Before becoming Justice of the Peace he served for six years as School Director.

He has been widely known for his skill as teller of tall stories, and won recognition from Lowell Thomas for a yarn about a rubber snake that, serving as a clothes line, speeded up the drying of the wash by dancing the "hula" to appropriate music.

Born in New Castle, Staffordshire, England, son of the late Bernard and Mary Brady, he was taught the trade of tile-making. He came to the United States alone as a boy, and settling in Bristol, worked at various local industries. Later he entered the grocery business, and continued in it for 28 years, retiring in 1934.

He married Miss Catherine Dugan in St. Mark's Church in 1907. She died several years ago. He is a member of Bristol Council, No. 906, of the Knights of Columbus.

WATER BEING HAULED

Spinach, wheat and barley have benefited the most from the rains of the past two days, according to Bucks County Farm Agent William F. Greenawald. These are Bucks County's major crops. Greenawald pointed out that the spinach crop in lower Bucks County was particularly benefited.

It also aided grasses which were seeded with the winter grains. The rain followed a long period of drought.

Many up-county farmers have been hauling water for weeks for their cattle.

HOLD TWO PHILA. MEN FOR FENCE POST THEFTS

Pair Allegedly Stole Snow Fence Posts from Bensalem Township

ANOTHER IS SOUGHT

Two Philadelphia men involved in the theft of iron fence posts from Bensalem Township at Street road above the Lincoln Highway last week had their hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur P. Brady yesterday in the Municipal Building. Both are under bail for the next session of court.

Michael Snow, 2519 E. Clearfield street, Philadelphia, was held under $1500 bail, being charged with two thefts, and Atwood, 2913 Chatham street, Philadelphia, was held under $500 bail.

Snow twice visited the road depot allegedly where the posts were kept. The first time on Oct. 24th and the second time on Oct. 27th, each time reportedly making off with a truckload of posts. Atwood was also involved. It is said, in the theft on Oct. 27th. The men were identified by a junk yard dealer in Philadelphia to whom they had sold the posts. Another man is being sought by police in connection with the theft on Oct. 24th.

Investigating officers were: Anthony Russo, Chief Bucks County Detective; Pts. William Warner and A. J. Kutney, Pennsylvania State Police, Langhorne barracks.

J., were recent guests of Mrs. George Bischoff, at her home in Eddington.

BRING OUT THE VOTE!

It has been said that many citizens vote only when they are mad.

If this is true, it is unfortunate! It is just as important—perhaps even more so—to vote support for what you believe in, as to vote against what you disapprove.

This point has much importance in connection with the coming county and local election next Tuesday.

There are no exciting issues involved. The basic question is simple. The Republican administrations at the County Seat, and the many local Republican administrations throughout the county, have been rendering the men and women of their communities business-like, efficient and economical service—they have been providing high-standard government at low tax rates.

The purpose of the election is to determine whether this type of administration is to be continued—or whether we are to experiment with something else.

No one can get hot and bothered about such an issue. Yet the only way the people of Bucks County can be sure of keeping good government is to be interested enough to check in at the polls on election day and vote to keep it.

This is a low-blood-pressure election. You can vote in perfect good humor and peace of mind—but THE IMPORTANT THING IS TO VOTE!

Remember, you can vote for all the various Republican nominees—State, County and local—by making a single cross-mark on the ballot you will receive. Simply put an "X" after the word Republican where it appears in the party-column of the ballot in heavy type, thus:

REPUBLICAN X

COLLINS IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Attorney C. W. Freed Says Client Will Not Sign Extradition "At This Time"

NEIGHBORS GIVE AID

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 30.—Taken before a justice of the peace at Quakertown yesterday James Robert Collins, fugitive from jail at Mobile, Alabama, where he was sentenced to a life term, was remanded to the Bucks County Jail. Justice of the Peace, Horace Koder held Collins without bail after his attorney C. William Freed, Sr., had informed the magistrate his client would not sign extradition papers "at this time."

Freed explained he had undertaken the case only the previous night and pleaded for more time to decide whether his client would wage a full-dress legal fight to avoid being sent back to Mobile, Alabama.

Collins, whose identity was disclosed Tuesday with the serving upon him of a fugitive warrant by his good friend, Sheriff H. Raymond Ahlun, had little to say.

Collins figured differently than most convicts after he escaped from an Alabama state prison about 13 years ago, with a life term hanging over his head for the part he played in a bank robbery and murder.

From that escapade until this he changed his name but once, when he was arrested for illegal train-riding in Columbus while on his way to Bucks county.

But the most unusual make-up in this life's character, is the fact that he figured this way:

"I know I'm going to be caught some day, but I'm going to try to make something of myself until I'm caught again; I'm going to get married, go straight and raise a family. If I'm successful, certainly it will not go so hard for me when I'm caught and I might get that life sentence changed."

CORONER'S JURY SAYS MAN'S DEATH WAS AN ACCIDENT

No Person or Persons Held Responsible for Death of Frank B. Dyer

INQUEST IS HELD

Several Witnesses Describe How Accident Occurred At Cornwells Heights

A coroner's inquest was held last night in the Municipal building into the death of Frank B. Dyer, 26, Bristol. After a short deliberation the coroner's jury found that the death was accidental and no person or persons were in any way negligent.

Dyer, who lived at 648 Pine street, met death by electrocution on Sept. 26th while working at the plant of the Cornwells Chemical Corp. Cornwells Heights. At the time Dyer, who was employed by James F. Morrissey, Philadelphia, was aiding in pushing a large steel tank that was suspended from the boom of a crane. The cable of the boom came close to some nearby high tension wires causing an arc to the cable which in turn sent a current to the steel tank he was pushing.

Daniel Costello, 28, 3144 Tulip street, Philadelphia, was also killed. The inquest into his death will be held in Philadelphia as he died in a Philadelphia hospital.

During the course of the inquest several eye witnesses to the accident were called to the stand, all giving almost identical stories of the accident. Jury members, attorneys representing the companies involved, and Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby gave each witness a thorough cross-examination in order to establish any negligence if it were apparent.

The testimony of the plant engineer and the crane operator was open to rapid fire questioning to establish exactly how the contact was made. Edwin Sheppard, the plant engineer of the Cornwells Chemical Corp., stated that his men were ordered to move two large steel drums from the driveway of the plant. A crane was sent to aid, and a truck was sent on which the drums were to be placed. The steel drums were lying alongside the fence, directly above the fence were the high tension wires. In order to establish any negligence if it were apparent.

Penn. 8 'n' 40 President Installs Officers Here

Mrs. Rowen also spoke in regard to child welfare work, mentioning in particular the new project for Pennsylvania salons, the children's ward in a hospital for tuberculosis patients at Malvern. The salons have purchased a recording machine and motion picture films for enjoyment by the patients; and are also caring for salary for an instructor for general school subjects for the young patients.

Decorations for the refreshment table were in keeping with the current season, with members from Bristol area serving. At the November session at Langhorne, a "white elephant" sale will be conducted.

Notice to Advertisers

Due to changed conditions in the publication of a daily newspaper the Courier finds it absolutely necessary to set an advertising "dead-line" and hereafter reserves the right to reject advertising copy received later than seven days previous to the date of publication.

This means that copy for advertising to be inserted in the Thursday issue of the Courier must be in the Courier office not later than noon of the Thursday previous to publication.

The Courier may also find it necessary to reject copy ordered for a certain day due to a shortage of newsprint. The supply of newsprint which the Courier has on hand sometimes does not warrant accepting copy for a certain date as it might on that date make necessary the printing of a paper of more pages than the stock of newsprint on hand warrants.

We trust our advertisers will co-operate with us and they can rest assured that the Courier will do all that is possible. But we do not want advertisers to feel discriminated against if it is found necessary to reject copy for the date ordered.

"ALL THE WORLD..."

So American brides-to-be want to know what Princess Elizabeth is going to wear on her wedding day! That's the revelation of a consultant in a New York bridal shop.

It is a normal curiosity, spurred no doubt by the natural charm of happiness and glamor in a world of dark uncertainty. What American girl does not like to think of herself as a princess, and what man doesn't think of his future wife in those terms, too?

Undoubtedly the personal charm of the royal couple and their attractiveness have a great deal to do with interest in their wedding. This has none of the earmarks of those royal matches of history, in which frowzy members of the peerage are paired off in a manner convenient to the state. This is a storybook romance, and the Princess and Lieutenant Mountbatten are young and gay in an England that is old and overburdened.

But if the girls are envious of the Princess, how about the men? What struggling young bridegroom would resent the fact that his new wife has a few palaces on the string here and there?

REMEMBERING THE PIGS

Ever since Henry Wallace killed the little pigs, a large segment of the population has cast a wary eye toward food conservation plans of the government. Last winter many persons were shocked when vast piles of potatoes were dumped in fields and destroyed. Now a story is in circulation to the effect that the government is holding millions of dozens of eggs in cold storage and that they are regarded as unfit for consumption. Now and then photographs appear in the papers showing Brazilians dumping coffee in the sea.

People are told to observe meatless and poultryless days, but in the minds of many is a disbelief that such measures are entirely necessary. They remember those days of destruction. Thus do the sins of politicians result in future reaction of the people. Many years after the pigs died a food saving program is being watched with fingers crossed by a large part of the population.

Wheat is selling for more than $3 a bushel, proving that war and global relief are more effective than other government schemes in increasing prices of farm crops.

Coroner's Jury Says Man's Death Was An Accident

move the drums from the ground to the truck, the boom of the crane was moving away from the wires. One drum was lifted aboard the truck, and the second was then lifted and placed atop the other drum. However, the load was too much for the truck and the drums were ordered removed. In order to swing the drum from the truck, the boom and cable of the crane was going towards the wires. The crane operator warned the men that they were coming too close to the wires and refused to move his boom any further. However, the steel drum was ordered lifted from the truck. It was lowered to about four inches from the ground and the men started pushing it. The boom remained stationary, but the cable came so close to the wires that the contact was made.

Cornell F. Gill, the crane operator stated that he warned the men about the closeness of the wires but they apparently paid no attention to him. He was ordered to lift the second drum from the truck which he did and placed it on the ground alongside the fence. It was decided to move the drum closer to the fence, but Gill said he wouldn't move the boom. He was told to lift the drum off the ground so the men could push it. This he did and in the process of pushing it the cable formed the arc with the wires. There was a blinding flash, and a loud rumbling noise. When he looked around he saw the men slumped to the ground. He said the boom or the cable did not actually touch the wire.

Leonard F. Founds and William Massey, both employed by the Chemical Corp., corroborated the testimony of the above witnesses in their description of how the accident occurred.

Jury foreman was Joseph H. Elbertson, who read the findings. Other members were George Braden, Irvin Scheffey, Howard Asay, Horace States, and Edward Dougherty. Investigating officer was Harry C. Bensinger, Pennsylvania State Police, Langhorne barracks.

Attorneys representing the various companies concerned were J. Leslie Kilcoyne, I. Louis Rubin, and Frank R. Ambler.

Within the package is a small diamond engagement ring, his Navy "dog tags" and a plastic cross and chain. The heiress and Gollum were recently acquitted of murder charges in connection with the deaths of her parents. (International Sound photo)

Charges Gov't Firing "Vets" Faster Than Hiring

Washington—Rep. Rees, R. Kan., Chairman of the House Civil Service Committee, charged today that executive agencies of the government are firing veterans faster than they are hiring them.

Rees asserted that reports from the Presidential agencies disclosed that in the first nine months of the year, nearly 50 thousand more veterans were dismissed from Government jobs than were hired. Rees declared—

"Veterans, who were promised and have every right to expect job security are feeling the full brunt of the reduction-in-force programs of the agencies."

MACHINE DARNING
CAN MAKE TASK OF
MENDING VERY EASY

By Flora-May Sagul

(Home Economics Representative)

The family mending pile will disappear rapidly if darning and patches are mended by machine. Machine darning and patches are stronger and more durable than those done by hand. Homemakers will find machine darning a great time saver.

Machine darning works especially well for holes and tears and thin places in aprons, children's clothes, boys' clothing, house dresses, towels, and sheets. Hand darning may be preferred to fine garments and hosiery.

To darn by machine use fine mercerized or cotton thread in a color to match the garment. Adjust the length of the stitch to suit the cloth. The finer the cloth, the shorter the stitch should be. When mending woollens it is wise to use eight to ten stitches to the inch.

Machine darning is done by stitching backward and forward across the tear or worn place. It is quicker to stitch backward by barely lifting the presser foot than to turn the work each time, or even to adjust the lever that some machines have for stitching in reverse.

To darn in an oblong or square patch, place a piece of matching material, one-half inch larger than the hole, under the hole. Start the machine darning in the center so that all corners will be equally strong. The machine darning should go one-fourth inch beyond the raw edge of the material. A smoother row of stitching are varied edge results if the length of the

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

ENOUGH COVERS for the cold days ahead? Hundred percent woolen blankets are not necessarily expensive. Take, for example, the good "American" woolen blankets, now being sold in the Snellenburg Bed Coverings Dept., at but $6.95 each. Each measures 72 x 84 inches, and is attractively bound in matching rayon satin. These good, yet inexpensive, all-wool blankets can be had in rose, blue, green, or a rich, practical cedar. This Snellenburg Department has many other excellent buys. Indeed, it is a good place for Budgeteers to check on each shopping trip. (2nd fl.)

EARLY SHOPPERS for Christmas gifts will appreciate the grand sale, at Snellenburg's, of men's scarfs and mufflers. The sale consists of a manufacturer's entire sample line of rayons and woollens, with some very slight irregulars. The value of the pieces is from $3.95 to $8.95 each—yet every one is selling at only $1.99 each! Oh, do get your Christmas share, Budgeteers! There are plain, rich colors, figured patterns, Persians and paisleys. You'll find these masculine scarfs and mufflers in the Men's Furnishings Dept., one of my favorite sources of shopping tips. (1st fl.)

FASHION "MUST" for women—gay scarfs, several of 'em! They fairly flaunt themselves, do these new scarfs, generously flowing out of the necklines of suits and coats. Believe me, they have Fifth Avenue looking like a garden. Some of the girls wear a different scarf daily. The Snellenburg Neckwear Department has some new beauties of pure silk—both squares and oblongs. Not only are they in time for us to wear immediately but they'll make wonderful tuckaway Christmas gifts. There are gorgeous plain colors, as well as the popular "ombre" that shades from dark to light. And only $2.95 each! (1st floor.)

"DECORATOR" PICTURES, such as the Snellenburg Art Dept. is showing, are delightful for one's own bedrooms and are delightfully suitable for gifts. There are formal designs of colorful flowers or enchanting figures, on a choice of blue, maroon or peach backgrounds to harmonize with the walls of a room. The perfect frames are all finished in neutral ivory. Overall measurement of each is 16 x 20 ins. The pictures are highly effective in pairs, you might like to know. They cost but $2.95 each. (4th fl.)

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Doylestown residents are to have advantages of a series of night school classes. The courses will open Wednesday, November 5th, for adults. Courses offered will include art, typing, and woodwork. The classes will continue for 15 weeks.

A Lacey Park tot, Gary Connor, Jr., 3½, is in Abington Hospital for treatment for injuries sustained when run over by a bread truck near his home on Thursday. He had lacerations of the head and face.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Connor. Michael Cioeco, 24, Ambler, said to have been the operator of the truck, was making a delivery at the Connor home, and, unknown to the driver, the child crawled under the truck.

After having made the delivery, Cioeco backed the truck about five feet, and was surprised to see the child in front of the truck. It is believed the housing under the vehicle struck the child.

Chief Stuart A. Munro, of the Warminster police, arrested Cioeco on a charge of assault and battery by auto. The driver, given a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, Edison, was released under $500 bail for a further hearing pending the outcome of the child's injuries.

Giving impressions of his trip to San Francisco, Cal., where he attended a convention of Rotary International, Raymond C. Green, Jenkintown, a charter member of that town's Rotary club, explained before members of Warrington Lions Club on Thursday that the people of that state did their best to bring out the good points in the communities in which they lived.

These persons, said Mr. Green, were sold on their communities, and they tried to sell the good in these communities to the visitors from all parts of the country.

Another feature of the meeting was the showing of a motion picture on spraying by Howard Holbert, Jr., and Gustav F. Petry.

Discussions at the meeting of Newtown Exchange Club a few nights ago concerned traffic problems at the intersection of Jefferson and Sycamore streets in that borough. Several members expressed the opinion that frequent arrests there are giving the town a black eye. It was pointed out also that the stop sign is at the top of an incline, and this makes it difficult for motorists to bring cars to a full stop at the intersection.

Another difficulty noted was that the sign stops traffic on the prescribed course to Doylestown from points south. Suggestion was made that the course be changed so that north-bound motorists would turn west on Washington avenue instead of Jefferson street.

PLAY PINOCHLE

High score of 799 was secured by Mrs. Howard Smoyer at the pinochle party conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary in Chester W. Terchon Post Home, last evening. Henry Kornstedt secured 766; Ella Powers, 761; and Mrs. Hancock, 753. Seventeen tables were filled with players.

Duck Island Case Reward To Go To Martin Keane

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 30.—A reward of $500 voted nine years ago for information leading to arrest and conviction of the Duck Island "killer," is to be paid to Martin Keane, of Girard avenue. The board of freeholders has approved the claim of Keane, and a check will be sent him within a few days it is announced.

Keane supplied the county with information that led to the arrest of Clarence Hill for the shotgun murder of Mary Myatovich and Vincenzo (Jimmy) Tonzillo on lonely Duck Island back in 1938. Keane identified Hill as the man to whom he had given a pawn ticket for the shotgun used to kill the pair as they parked in a secluded spot. Hill was convicted of murder in December, 1944. He is now serving a life sentence in State Prison.

Commissioner Andrew Duch, who was prosecutor during the investigation of the Duck Island murders, told the freeholders that Keane had fully complied with the conditions laid down for the collection of the reward. Keane's claim had not been contested by any other party.

The freeholders passed the resolution offering the reward on December 13, 1938, shortly after the double murder.

O'Neill is charged by his wife, Dorothy, with assault and battery and surety of the peace. He lives at 26 Grier street, Lacey Park, where, according to Mrs. O'Neill, her husband beat her up several days ago. It was not until Friday that police caught up with O'Neill, who was taken before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, at Edison, for a hearing today.

Pending the hearing, O'Neill was committed to the Bucks County Prison.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

PENNA. HIGH IN ITS CURRENT PRODUCTION

Production of Electricity is Most Important Single
Index of Progress

HAS A HIGH PLACE

(Prepared for The Courier
by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce)

Pennsylvania's high place in productive capacity, not only among our states but among the nations of the world, takes on new meaning from data on electric power production supplied by statistical bulletins of the United Nations. Production of electricity is the most important single index of industrial progress and activity. Electricity provides light and power for all the principal production activities of the modern world, and its extension in the rural areas is a sure index of the march of progress.

In 1946 a summary of the monthly electric output of Pennsylvania, made by the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, shows that the Commonwealth, with an output of 21,728,000,000 kilowatt hours, has greatly exceeded its production in any preceding peacetime year. The output in 1946 is more than four times as great as that in 1920, and more than twice that of the great boom year 1929.

Pennsylvania's increase in power production has been more rapid than that of either New York or New England, and today the Commonwealth ranks high among the nations of the world. The State's output in 1946 exceeded that of the American, British and French Zones of Germany by more than 26 per cent. That area of Germany has a population of more than 65 million, nearly six times that of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania's power output is more than ten times that of all Australia, seven times that of the Argentine, ten times that of Brazil, France, with a population nearly four times as great as Pennsylvania, exceeds the Commonwealth in its electric output by only 2 per cent.

The only foreign nations with an electric power output greater than Pennsylvania are Canada, France, Japan, Russia and Great Britain. No other comes even close to the production of our single State.

If we consider, in addition, the coal exported from Pennsylvania for power production in New York and other neighboring states, the immense importance of the energy output of our Commonwealth becomes even more emphatic. That our State exceeds all others in America in the production of industrial power also indicates what vast resources for productive enterprise may be found today within our borders.

Install Officers For Three Legion Posts

On October 21st at the Robert W. Bracken Post American Legion Home the installation of officers for three Legion Posts took place.

Herbert Walker, Commander of the 9th District, and Harry Chapin, Deputy District Commander, installed the officers of Fallsington, Yardley, and Robert W. Bracken Posts at a very colorful and well attended meeting.

Commander Walker stressed the obligations that the Commanders, as well as the other officers were about to accept. He spoke to the three retiring Commanders, Lester B. Appenzeller, of Fallsington; John Fitzgerald, of Yardley; and Howard Boyd, of Bristol, and conveyed the thanks of their Posts, the District and the Department of Pennsylvania for a job well done. Then the retiring commanders were escorted to their places in the meeting as past commanders. The gavel of the Robert W. Bracken Post was presented to Martin J. Healey, who will be the commander for the next year. The new commander presented Past Commander Boyd with the official past commander's button and stated it was presented to the past commander on behalf of the post membership.

The district commander gave a short talk on the objectives of the American Legion for the following year and especially stressed the universal military training bill that comes up when Congress resumes session in January. He went to great lengths to point out the only way for lasting peace is through a strong army, navy, and air force. The following officers were installed:

For Bristol Post: Commander, Martin J. Healey; senior vice-commander, Lawrence McCoy; junior vice-commander, Raymond Klepczynski; finance officer, Robert Hems; chaplain, William Alderdice; sergeant-at-arms, John Barron; Home Association, H. Boyd and J. Dougherty; executive committee, H. Boyd, W. Stanton, J. Fischer, J. Lauder, H. Chapin.

Inside Your Congress

The Police State— Legalized Plunder!

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Thank you, President Truman for agreeing that price, wage and rent controls are the methods of a "police state." Your frankness has distressed some who fear your words will bounce back on them. And consumers' groups have sent you indignant telegrams demanding the return of the police state, but under a different, more beautiful name.

But stand your ground, Mr. President. You are right from the viewpoint of government, economics, and public morals. You, perhaps, are fed up with the hypocrisy of those who demand price controls on what they buy, but no controls on the goods or labor they sell. Pressure groups which shoulder each other out of the political trough are making no secret of their intent to demand the "common good" or the "general welfare," as cover-ups for their self-interests, they must sometimes nauseate you.

You were wrong on one point, however, Mr. President. You said that anything that has to be enforced by a system of punishments is the mark of a police state. But that is not the difference between a police state and a free government. All governments use punishments. The difference is whether the offense and the punishment are set forth in some statute, or whether they rest on the caprice of the bureaucrat. In short, it is the difference between a government by law or a government by men, as the Constitution of Massachusetts puts it.

The prohibition era was not an example of police government. The Constitution and the Volstead Act laid down the law; the offense was clearly stated; the punishments were clearly prescribed and the citizen had the right to a jury trial. Federal prohibition may have been a mistaken policy, but it was not a "police government."

To prohibit the sale of a single commodity, such as liquor or a dangerous drug, is something that can be done by law. But to fix a compulsory price on all the articles in a Sears Roebuck catalogue, or even a tenth of them, or the rent of a million different houses, is a job no legislature can perform. Nor could it constantly change those prices from day to day as frost or drought or strikes or the new demands of a Marshall Plan for feeding Europe upset the balance of supply and demand.

No, outside of a free market, this job can be done, if at all, only by an economic czar who rules by decree and from whose orders there is no appeal to the courts. Braintrusts know this well enough. When they draft a Presidential order appointing an economic czar, they fight like wildcats against any right of injunction or appeal from his decrees.

As the Supreme Court has said, the power to fix prices involves the power to be arbitrary. It is the absence of rule by law that makes price and wage and rent fixing the characteristic of a police state. When, Mr. President, you said a year ago that you had contemplated sending out federal cattle rustlers to arbitrarily seize meat from the farmers, you were clearly describing a police state activity.

From the standpoint of economics, price fixing is equally a fake. Canadian and French and Argentine farmers have already curtailed wheat planting because of price fixing. To expect anyone to produce as much of anything for a price less than a free market would give, is a confession of economic illiteracy. It has never been done without bayonets, and poorly then.

Price controls are legalized plunder. When some use their voting power to get more goods by paying fewer dollars, they force others to take fewer dollars by giving up more goods.

Those who demand price controls for other people never do so because they want to work harder, but because they want to get more by not working harder. Hence, price controls always curtail the production of wealth. Witness the tremendous increase in production since O. P. A. was discarded.

COOK'S COUNCIL

By Jean Merritt
Heine Home Institute

Fast-Feasting on Spaghetti

For fast and fascinating autumn meals rely on spaghetti—the fully prepared kind done up in cans, all ready to heat and eat. On days when the larder is low . . . when you're not in the mood to cook a big meal . . . when a shopping spree or a late rubber of bridge cut in on cooking time, this top stove specialty will solve your main-dish-for-supper problem.

Of course it's grand just as it comes from the can, enticingly cooked in a blithe scarlet sauce of pedigreed tomatoes, imported spices, nippy cheese. There's the makings of many a good meal in a tin or two of this spaghetti spooned into a saucepan and heated till the whole potful's sizzling hot.

But its reputation as a short-order star does not rest on this alone. It's this spaghetti's ability to socialize with other foods that really wins its laurels. You'll find canned spaghetti wonderful combined with leftover meat in a quickly made pie, it's excellent with fish, it stretches a little hamburger to a lot, it teams with frankfurters like twins. Try these yourself and see:

Individual Meat and Spaghetti Loaves

Mix thoroughly, using a large fork to break spaghetti into small pieces—

- 1/2 lb. fresh lean pork
- 1 lb. raw cured ham
- ground together twice
- 1 can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
- 1 egg.

Fill well-greased muffin tins full of the mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 45 minutes. Turn out onto hot platter and garnish with parsley and fresh cucumber pickle. 12 loaves—2 per serving.

Spaghetti Ring

Cook until crisp, then crumble in small pieces—

- 6 strips bacon.
- Then add, blending well, to—
- 2 cans cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Pour into a well-greased ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (325° F.) 3/4 to 1 hour, or until firm. Fill center of ring with cooked buttered broccoli or green peas.

Spaghetti and Lamb Patties

Combine and mix well—

- 1 lb. ground lamb
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
- 1 egg.

Divide into twelve mounds, pat flat and wrap each with strip of bacon (like lamb patties). Sprinkle both sides with flour. Place on rack in roasting pan. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (375° F.) 1 hour. If bacon needs additional cooking, broil roasting pan with patties for broiling for a few minutes.

PENNSYLVANIA FARM ROUNDUP

By Jack Ward
(I. N. S. Penna. Farm Editor)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—(INS)—A below-average potato crop and the nation's food-saving program have virtually eliminated the need for the Agriculture Department's potato price support program in Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Production and Marketing Administration reported that "there has been little demand lately to buy potatoes from farmers under the price support plan."

The demand for price aid was "very strong" during August and September when Pennsylvania growers experienced trouble marketing their crop of early tubers, the PMA said.

"With the new food conservation program, farmers are willing to withhold their crop and take a chance on marketing it later on a more favorable market," a spokesman pointed out. "Sizeable potatoes will undoubtedly find a market through normal trade channels."

The spokesman said spud growers were counting on potatoes to take the place of grains as a source of starch and alcohol in the food-saving program. Digging of late spuds has already begun in the state and farmers were placing the crop in storage instead of applying for $2.60 per hundred under the current price support schedule.

The 1947 potato crop was estimated at 16,500,000 bushels—approximately 5,000,000 bushels under the average yield.

Recent abnormally low temperatures in Pennsylvania killed nearly all late-planted corn, Agriculture Department officials reported.

Early planted corn was ripe and escaped damage, but frost halted growth of the late variety, they explained. The September 1 crop estimated predicted a yield of 58,000,000 bushels, approximately 1,000,000 fewer than in 1946.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with burning and stinging sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TWO FROM LITHUANIA RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

Girls Eagerly Face New Life in America; Families
Are Gone

HAVE BRIGHT FUTURE

NEWTOWN, Oct. 30—Two girls, orphaned refugees from Lithuania have qualified for college scholarships only seven months after arrival in this country.

The two, Izolina Namajuska and Marie Kukstas, both 18 years of age, arrived at Villa Marie Academy, Holland Road, operated by the Sisters of St. Casimir. The Sisters at the school speak Lithuanian as well as English, and they found the two girls very intelligent, and soon found they had escaped the mental despair so common among those who have gone through the last few years on that continent. The two had lost homes and families.

"It may be because we now have so much for which to be thankful—that we are on the threshold to a new life," mused 18-year-old Izolina, whose intensive studies for college included a short course during the summer at Wellesley.

Her troubles began in 1941, when she was only 12 years old. The Russians invaded Lithuania, and her father, an army colonel, was taken prisoner and never seen again. Under the privations of subsequent, fearful wandering, her mother died.

Izolina, herself, narrowly escaped the work and concentration camps to which many of her friends were taken. She entered southern Germany, near Stuttgart, where she did manual work in addition to studying at a gymnasium, the European equivalent of high schools in the United States.

Her companion, Marie Kukstas, also 18, fled from the Russians into Germany, and lived in a concentration camp during the war. She never learned what became of her father, who was a physician. Her mother had died when she was younger.

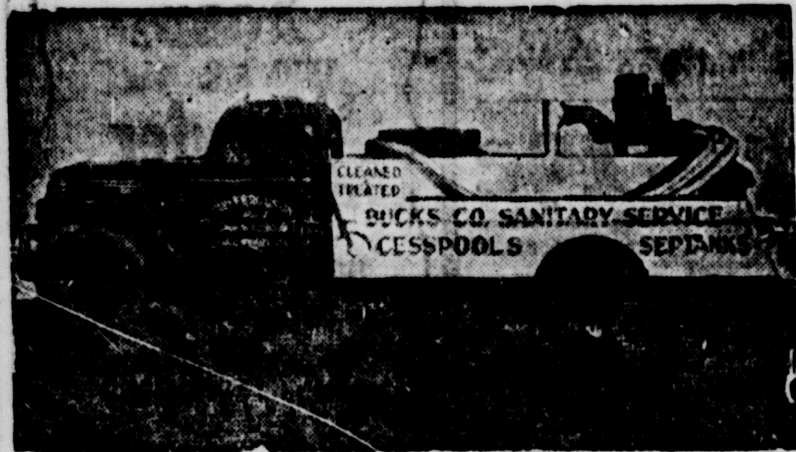

Both girls were brought here by the Catholic Committee for Refugees in this country, after approval by the U. S. Consulate in Germany.

Both have been awarded scholarships on the basis of their academic merits. Marie, to Marywood College, Scranton, and Izolina, to the Catholic College of St. Elizabeth near Morristown, N. J.

Izolina plans a career in either chemistry or medicine. She wants to relieve suffering because of having seen so much of it.
